PROBLEM STATEMENT

Problem Statement

- Indian college students face mid-month financial stress due to irregular incomes, varied expenses, and limited financial literacy. Existing apps are too generic, lacking features like hostel cost-splitting, irregular income tracking, and peer-pressure spend control.

Opportunity

- A student-first financial tool can simplify daily money management, fit seamlessly into student life, and build lasting financial habits from the first semester.

MAJOR ISSUES

IRREGULAR & LIMITED INCOMES:

- Primary sources: parental allowance, stipends, or part-time work earnings.
- Income tends to be low, irregular, and unpredictable, making budget planning harder.

PEER PRESSURE SPENDING:

- Peer Influence – Friends’ costly habits can push you toward frequent, expensive outings.
- Social Pressure – FOMO drives overspending on non-essential group activities.

LOW FINANCIAL LITERACY:

- Limited knowledge of tools like UPI payments, savings accounts, credit usage, interest rates.
- Poor understanding of budgeting methods and savings strategies.

PROBLEM ANALYSIS

- Many Indian college students experience mid-month cash shortages due to a mix of recurring and unexpected expenses.
- Regular costs such as hostel rent, food and canteen bills, weekend outings, and academic materials steadily consume their limited budgets.
- On top of this, sudden expenses like birthday gifts, group trips, or social events often arise, disrupting their financial balance and leaving little room for savings or emergency needs.

1

THE NEWBIE FRESHMEN

ABOUT

Name: Riyansh Mehta
Gender: Male
Age: 18
College Type: Tier 1
Location Type: Urban

TARGET
PERSONA

"I just got my allowance, but by mid-month I have no idea where it all went. Splitting rent and outings is so confusing!"

PROBLEMS

- Clueless about budgetings.
- Spends impulsively due to peer pressure (hostel outings, events).
- No tracking system — doesn't know where money goes.
- Struggles with splitting rent and shared expenses.
- Feels overwhelmed by complex finance apps.

2

THE MID-COURSE STUDENT

ABOUT

Name: Akash Sharma
Gender: Male
Age: 20
College Type: Tier 2
Location Type: Semi-Urban

"I plan my budget every month, but still end up borrowing from friends. Saving seems impossible!"

PROBLEMS

- Knows basics of budgeting but consistently overspends.
- Has fixed expenses (rent, food, subscriptions) but no emergency fund.
- Often forced to borrow from friends mid-month.
- Faces difficulty in sticking to savings goals.
- Occasionally falls for "festival sales" or group outings beyond budget.

3

THE PART-TIME WORKING

ABOUT

Name: Anjali Choudhary
Gender: Female
Age: 21
College Type: Tier 3
Location Type: Urban

"Some months I earn enough, some months I don't. I can't predict how much I can actually spend safely!"

PROBLEMS

- Irregular income from freelance/part-time jobs.
- Finds it hard to combine gig earnings with allowance for consistent budgeting.
- Has no tool to predict how much she can spend without affecting rent/essentials.
- Wants to save but income fluctuations discourage her.

4

THE DAILY COMMUTER

ABOUT

Name: Rohit Verma
Gender: Male
Age: 22
College Type: Tier 2
Location Type: Rural → Urban commute daily

"I plan my budget every month, but still end up borrowing from friends. Saving seems impossible."

PROBLEMS:

- High daily transport cost eats into monthly allowance.
- Difficulty tracking small, frequent UPI/cash transactions.
- Often skips meals or borrows to meet travel expenses near month-end.
- Can't save because commuting takes priority over discretionary spending.
- Needs alerts for when travel costs exceed planned budget.

'USP' SMART PRICE COMPARISON ACROSS MULTIPLE SITES

Here's a quick look at our smart price comparison feature.

1. Search or Detect

A user searches for an item, pastes a link, or our AI detects a product from their browsing.

2. Scan All Sites

Our system instantly scans top online stores, comparing prices, delivery times, and special offers in real-time.

3. See Best Price

Results are displayed in a simple side-by-side comparison, highlighting the best available deal.

Scenario: Notebook Purchase

Ananya wants to buy a notebook. She searches in our app → AI finds:

- Amazon: ₹95
- Flipkart: ₹110
- Blinkit: ₹135

👉 The app highlights Amazon as the cheapest + applies an extra ₹10 student coupon.

She buys instantly — saving ₹25 and staying on track with her budget.

A STUDENT-FIRST FINANCIAL ECOSYSTEM

- Smartiee isn't just a chatbot — it's like a financial mentor that grows with the student, turning abstract money management into simple, daily conversations.
- Real-Time Alerts – Warns about overspending patterns, repeated unnecessary purchases, or peer-pressure-driven expenses.
- Smart Tips & Tricks – Provides easy, bite-sized financial literacy lessons (e.g., UPI safety, basics of credit, how to save ₹500 a week).

1

THE NEWBIE FRESHMEN

Smart Auto-Tracking: Every UPI/cash/card transaction auto-logged in one dashboard → he sees where money goes.

Beginner-Friendly Budgeting: Gamified daily/weekly allowance tracker ("₹500 left for the week – keep going!").

Rent + Expense Split: Peer-split feature with UPI integration for rent, mess bills, or outings → no confusion.

2

THE MID-COURSE STUDENT

Fixed + Flexible Buckets: Auto-separates essentials (rent, food, subscriptions) from discretionary spends.

Emergency Fund Vault: Round-up savings (₹195 spent → ₹5 auto-saved) builds safety net.

Mid-Month Alert: Crisis-prevention notification if spending is ahead of budget.

Goal Tracking: Visual savings targets with streaks (gamified motivation to stick).

Festival/Impulse Control: Smart alerts ("This offer may not fit your budget – want to re-check?").

3

THE PART-TIME WORKING

Income Mixer: Combines gig + allowance into one wallet with auto-tracking.

Adaptive Budgeting: Budget adjusts automatically based on income fluctuations.

Goal-Based Saving: Even with irregular income, app suggests micro-savings (₹50-100 when possible).

Motivation Boost: Progress bars + milestones when savings targets are hit, even small ones.

4

THE DAILY COMMUTER

Category Auto-Tracking: Separate "Transport" bucket tracks UPI & cash commute costs.

Commute Budget Alerts: App warns: "You've hit 80% of your monthly travel budget by 20th."

Micro-Meal Saver: Suggests allocating leftover change into a "snack fund" → prevents skipping meals.

Visual Breakdown: Clear pie chart shows how much allowance is eaten by commute vs. food vs. others.

SPLITWISE

Pros:

- Excellent for group expense splitting and debt tracking.
- Simple, clean interface for shared bills.

Cons:

- No budgeting, no price comparison, no UPI integration.
- Not tailored for students — treats all users as equal financial actors.

Benefit Gap:

Students still need a separate app for budgeting and manual price checking, making money management more fragmented.

UNIWALLET

Pros:

- High Student Focus: Built specifically for Indian college students — handles hostel bills, allowances, irregular income, group spends, and peer-pressure situations.
- High Price Intelligence: Integrated AI price comparison across multiple sites to ensure students never overpay.
- Extra Features: UPI integration, financial literacy content, brand tie-ups for smart discounts, peer-pressure spending alerts, repeat purchase alerts.

Benefits for Students:

- Saves Money Before Spending: Price comparison ensures best deals; budgeting tools prevent overspending.
- Fits Real Life: Works for small allowances, irregular income, and student group expenses.
- Rewards Good Habits: Discounts for staying within budget from brands students actually use (Blinkit, Canva, Audible).

AXIO

Pros:

- Modern neobank with good expense categorization and insights.
- Has some budgeting tools.

Cons:

- Targeted to salaried professionals — assumes stable income.
- No group expense splitting, no peer-pressure spend detection, no price comparison.

Benefit Gap:

Students miss out on social expense tools and shopping savings features that matter most in campus life.

Feature/Apps
Student-Centric Budgeting
Peer Pressure Spending Alerts (AI)
Smart Price Comparison Across Sites
Daily/Weekly/Monthly Spend Limits
Peer-Split

UniWallet drives daily app opens through alerts, limits, and price tracking unlike Splitwise (used for occasional group events) or CRED (monthly bill payments).
Higher engagement = higher retention = faster market capture.

UniWallet is the only app covering all 5 critical features (budgeting, peer-pressure alerts, smart price comparison, daily/weekly/monthly spend limits, and peer-splitting).
Competitors specialize in just one or two dimensions, leaving major student needs unmet.

Expense splitting + peer-pressure alerts are social by design, ensuring one user adoption can trigger group-level adoption in hostels/classmates.
Creates viral loops that competitors like CRED or Axio (individual usage focus) cannot replicate.

REVENUE STREAM

1. PREMIUM SUBSCRIPTIONS

Users pay monthly for advanced features, such as AI-powered spending alerts, unlimited group bill splits, exclusive merchant deals, and early access to new modules. Targeting 12–15% conversion from active users for reliable recurring income.

2. BRAND & CAMPUS PARTNERSHIP COMMISSIONS

- SplitSmart partners with brands (e.g., Blinkit, Audible, Kindle, local food chains) and campus vendors to offer exclusive offers to students.
- The app earns a commission on each transaction or referral, tapping into high-frequency campus spending and brand marketing budgets.

3.VENDOR TRANSACTION FEES

- A small percentage fee (typically 1–2%) is charged on payments processed through SplitSmart at affiliated campus canteens and event vendors.
- As on-campus cashless ecosystems grow, so do transaction volumes and fee revenues.
